Experience With Rattler

On Monday morning, while out near Circle S mountain, J. F. Ott in company with Bob Nolte, saw a huge rattlesnake on the side of the mesa. They attacked the snake, which sought safety in a crevice, crawling in with the exception of about a foot of the "tail end." Mr. Ott grabbed the snake, pulling with all his might. Finally over a foot of the tail broke, but the rest of the varmint held itself in the crevice. The men passed on, returning in an hour or two when they found that the rest of the snake had crawled out. They then soon put the critter out of its misery. The snake was over six feet in length and had seven rattles.—Tucumcari Sun.

Neighbors Try for Another Route

Dr. Steele has been making himself useful by agitating a mail line from Boise City to the west end of the county, and last week had a letter from the Powers that Be up at Washington stating that the matter would be investigated by the department and he would be notified later what their conclusion may be. Dr. Steele suggested a line to Kenton but they seem to favor one to Wheelless as it would save mileage and yet render a satisfactory mail service between the central and western parts of the county.—Cimarron News.

Big Dam Completed

Elephant Butte, N. M., May 15.—Work was completed here today on the Elephant Butte dam, a United States reclamation project which, by damming the Rio Grande river, forms the greatest storage reservoir in the world.

Construction began five years ago. The reservoir will feed an irrigation system that will water 185,000 acres in New Mexico, Texas and Mexico. The dam blocks a canyon in the Rio Grande 120 miles north of El Paso. It is the fifth of the government's big irrigation projects and will store the annual flow of the river.
